

Touching the Sky

on a Mattress
That Flies

saatva

STORYTIME

The background of the entire page is a light beige color with faint, horizontal, wavy lines. In the upper half, there are several watercolor-style clouds in shades of blue and white. Scattered throughout the page are small, stylized stars in blue and yellow. The text is centered in the lower half of the image.

saatva

STORYTIME

An imprint of a body resting on a really comfy mattress

saatva

Copyright © 2025 by Saatva

First published in Saatva Viewing Rooms in 2025

Saatva supports restorative sleep. Proper rest helps mood, boosts recovery, and generally makes kids (and adults) less irritable. Thank you for reading. And don't get any funny ideas, because Saatva also supports copyright laws. So this book may not be reproduced, scanned, or distributed in any form without express permission.

The Saatva logo is a registered trademark of Whitestone Home Furnishings, LLC dba Saatva.

10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1....Zzzzzzzzzzz

Visit us online at www.saatva.com

Manufactured in the United States of America by DG3 North America, Inc.

Design by Ashley Kaye Hayes

Words by Erik DeLeo

Text is set in Poor Story

The art was made in Illustrator on a fancy Macbook

Some dreams are big,
and some dreams are small.

Some dreams are scary,
like when you fall.

Some dreams are silly,
and some make no sense,

Like riding a fish on top of a fence!

A girl named Lizzy had dreams of all kinds,
ones that would
dazzle and dance
through her mind.

She'd dream about castles as
tall as the sky,

Or floating on her mattress
and making it fly!

One night she dreamed 'bout a giant talking bear,
Who juggled three teacups while combing his hair.

Then suddenly—BOOM!—a loud thunderous sound,
She tripped on a rainbow and crashed to the ground!

Lizzy tumbled and fell,
the world spinning about,

she bounced like a ball
and began to shout:
"Oh no!" she said, "This dream is too scary!"

Her stomach felt wobbly,
her mind was wary.

Then a voice
whispered softly
right into her ear,

Don't worry, it said, there's nothing to fear!
A dream is a dream, they're not real at all,
You might slip and tumble, but you don't actually fall.

So, Lizzy took a breath and began to fly,
She floated, she glided,
waved worry goodbye.

Lizzy soared through the stars and giggled with glee,
"Oh wow, I'm flying!" She finally felt free!

So dream big, dream bold,
dream silly, dream bright, Dreams are like magic you dance with at night.

No matter how big, no matter how small,
A dream is a dream—so, embrace them all.

Lizzy is a girl with all sorts of dreams. Big ones, and small ones—sometimes even silly ones. But dreams can take you to interesting places, to lands full of rainbows and bears and even flying mattresses. Follow Lizzy on her adventure where she learns how to embrace them all.

saatva

STORYTIME